Mr. Scoville Takes Up the Day in Presenting the De-fense-Bill Jones Bound Over for Attempting the Murder of the Assassin - Guiteau Gives Another Airing to His Vanity.

WASHINGTON November 22 .- Guiteau was brought to the court house at about 9 o'clock. The van was guarded by six mounted policemen in addition to the policemen in the van. His personal appearance has undergone a great change since the first days of the trial, and this morning he evidently devoted unusual care to his tollet. He still wears the coat with a torn sleeve, but his linen was spotless, and his beard, which heretofore appeared "scraggy, frightened look of his eyes has disappeared as glances about him, without raising his head. He looked about the room, and bowed pleasantly to one at a distance from him.

At 10:10a. m. Mr. Scoville resumed bis argument. He called attention to the plea set up by the de fense, insanity, and discussed at great length the growth and changes of public opinion upon the subject of insanity, and its treatment by courts when set up as a defense in criminal cases. He cited numerous cases and rulings in several noted trials, where insanity was set up. He claimed that the plea of insanity having been set up by the de-fense, the burden of proof rests with the prosecution to show the sanity of the prisoner.

Mr. Scoville continued his argument to reces his counsel was making.

During the progress of Mr. Scoville's argument Guiteau leaned back in his chair, stroked his nose and beard, and followed him closely. Occasionally he would make some notes and hold a brief whis pered colloquy with his brother. Mr. Scoville, resuming, called the jury's attention to the prisoner's conduct since the trial began, asking them to weigh that point carefully. He reviewed the various phases of insanity, and said he would endeavor to convince them that the whole ques ion was whether the act was the result of an insane mind. The New Hampshire doctrine that there were cases where insanity was impulsive, causing the victim to act on the spur of the moment, he would plead for the defendant. He cited the case of a colored woman named Nichols in this causing the victim to act ou the spur of the moment, he would plead for the defendant. He cited the case of a colored woman named Nichols in this Ustrict, condemned to be hung for influer, who died pending a new trial. The post morten proved complete insanity. Then Mr. Scoville went into the treatment now adopted in anytums, which, he said, was often cal culated to confirm rather than cure the incipient insanity. There were so many types of insanity that he might say no two were exactly alike. He would produce a witness (Dr. Sweitzer), who would testify to the defendant's insanity, and add he never saw a case exactly like it before Guiteau's insanity lay in his desire to become a politician or great public officer. It was unreasonable to punish a man for a deficiency in his mental formation as it was to punish him because his hands were not properly constructed, One of the most certain test of insanity was the wantof adequate motives for his actions or a lack of reasoning power. In this connection he cited the case of "Billy, the kid," the notorious Texan outlaw, who had the most deprayed taste for crime, because he had no reason to control his actions. The jury should determine whether insanity was feigned or not, and if not no punishment was to decreated in the most deprayed factor for him, but it was almost impossible to decreate of the case of the fourth of his hands)—I never oville-t only speak from newspaper report the point that the most intense religious zeal was handed down from one generation to another, and also that various members of the family were victims of insanity. Guiteau's aunt, Mrs. Julia Maynard, died insane. Her daughter, Abbey, is now being treated for insanity His aunt, Mrs. May Parker, and her son, Augustus, died insane. His uncle, Abraham, died from weak intellect—not insane, but inherited weakness. Two other uncles, Frank and Luke, had been insane, Luke's derangement being of a religious type. Turning to Guiteau's framediate family, he said his mother at the time of his birth was in very feeble health, and her brain was so affected that it was necessary to shave her head. This hair would be produced to the jury. In early childhood he was struck on the head with a stone by a playmate. He grew up a bright, polite boy, but his mother being dead, he did not receive the attention he should. His only peculiarity was an impediment in his speech. For instance, he would persistently say, "Ped along," instead of "Get along, Old Dan Tucker," aithough harshly corrected. He then reviewed the prisoner's connection with the oneida community. He (Scoville) had finally sent him money to leave the community when it became distasteful to him. He had finally drifted into a study of the law and was admitted into a study of the law and was admitted into a study of the law and was admitted into a study of the law and was admitted him? Gaiteau—No, General Keynolds who sits there behind you, moved my admission.

Mr. Scoville continuing, said that Guiteau's regal ability was limited. He branched out as a collector and when he had a bill against a man gave him no rest until it was paid. He spoke disparageinaly of his peculiar suing of debtors, when Guiteau and hall against a man gave him no rest until it was paid. Reed had ever since entertained a beligt that its mind was not right. This led to an angry denial from Guiteau, who isclaimed ever having defended such a case there. The court here took a recess for halfan hour. After the reassembling Mr. Scoville con-linued the story of the prisoner's life, showing many cases of weakness and of business incapacity. He was frequently interrupted by the prisoner, specially when any reflections were made at his continued the story of the prisoner was the con-linued the story of the prisoner, specially when any reflections were made at his

AIT. Scoville related an incident of his having raised an ax against Mrs. Scoville without reason and of the family physician, Dr. Rice, having declared on this occasion that Guiteau was harm-lessly insane. He referred to Guiteau's explana-tion of his failure in the lecture field, which was-that "Jesus Christ could not pay his expenses." He (Guiteau) was in the same business as the Apos-tic Paul had engaged in. Paul got his pay at last, and so would be out of his book. "Did you say, as reported, 'Some d—d Virginia gebel shot me?"

"I did not. I don't swear. I abhor profanity and vulgarity. I have only associated with high toned people, Christians and politicians of high moral principles. Whenever you see an oath coupled with any expression purporting to come from me, you can put the expression down as a manufactured falschood."

"Bo you stand in dread of any further attempts on your life?"

"I have no anxiety as to the future. I am in no lear. The Lord and the metropolitan police will guard me from all harm. The Lord will protect me in the future, as He has preserved me in the pust. He is using these people to serve His purpose, and hence comes my protection. The issues of hie and death, you know, are in His hands, and He never, in working out His plans, gives much reference to the will of man."

"Will you appeal to the court for additional protection?"

"Undoubtedly shall, if the additional protection."

"Will you appeal to the court for additional protection?"

"I undoubtedly shall, if the additional protection is not granted without such appeal, as I am informed it will be. I want not less than six or eight mounted policeme: to guard the prison van from the jail to the court in the morning, and from the court back to the jail in the afternoon. Heretofore the mounted policemen have only accompanied the van in the morning."

"Do you intend to make an address to the court in the morning."

"I have no such intention. I do not intend to make any more set speeches. I will in the future get in my work on the sly—by seasonable interruptions and interjections. You can say," continued the assassin. "that I am highly pleased with the jury in my case and with the conduct of the court. I expect things will go along more smoothly from this time out. I expect Judge Magruder, of Maryland, and Judge Townseul, of New York, to appear as additional counsel for me. They are both first-class criminal lawyers, I am informed. I intend to have each side evenly balanced as to brains."

HE IS BOUND OVER FOR TRIAL ON A CRIMINAL CHARGE. WASHINGTON, November 22 .- William Jones, who was committed to Jall yesterday on the charge of assault with intent to kill Guiteau, was released today on a $5,000 bail. Jones's counsel having waived the formality of examination before the police court, his case went to the grand Jury. The witnesses in the case were before the grand Jury to-day. It is understood that the driver and guardsmen on the van testified that they identified Jones as the man who fired at Guiteau. The boy, who was running after the van, testified quite positively that Jones was the man. It is believed that an indictment will be found against Jones.

The prisoner is twenty-nine years of age, of rather muscular build. He is well connected, and a respected, well-to-do farmer in the neighborhood in which he resides, a locality seven miles west of Washington, on the Metropolitan branch of the Baltunore and Ohio railfoad. He was married about six years ago to a lady somewhat his senior contractor, notified all householders who had suffered that the would way the damages, and asked by the residues a locality sever a miles west of washington, on the Methyolitan branch of the Baltumore and oblo ratificad. He is a locality sever a miles west of the Baltumore and oblo ratificad in which he sentior in the property of the Baltumore and oblo ratificad. He is required to be a man of much courage, and is considered by his neighbors as a terror to all evil-doers. Jones has held a commission from the law lags, but at times is a little eccentric. were over two-hundred people, black and white, in front of the door shead of me. I then left there and walked home, seven miles; got my horse, came back to the city, and was passing the courthouse just as they were bringing fuiteau out to put him in the van. That's all I remembered until, on my road home, an officer beckomed to me, saying: 'The captain wants to see you.' I answered: 'If he wants to see me, let him come after me.' With that I put spurs to my horse, and we had a lively chase for about tive miles. I had no reins to the bridle on my horse, and we had a lively chase for about tive miles. I had no reins to the bridle on my horse, which frightened my horse and made him go all the faster. As soon as I recognized that the man was an officer I stopped my horse, and the officer was I would have given myself up sooner. I then turned anound and accompanied the officer to, the station house, where I have been ever since, and so has the officer. We slept together right here on the floor last night. Md.

Jones's brother, a young man, called on him this morning. The prisoner said that a representative of a New York filustrated paper had offered him $20 for a sketch of his face, but Jones told him that he was not for sale, and declined to allow the enterprising artist to sketch him. During the interview an officer stood by and checked the prisoner when he thought that Jones was talking too freely.

The officers in charge of the station all treat their prisoner as a hero, and apparently entertain the hope that there will be nothing done with him. So far as the officers of the court are concerned, there is a feeling of outrage that the attempt was made on Guiteau's life. Hereafterit is the intention to double the guard, and to fank the van when going between the jail and the court with mounted policemen. Additional precautions for the prisoner's safety will also be taken while he is being taken from the prison van to the court-room, and there will be closer watch upon those admitted to the court room during the progress of the trial. The feeling, however, among a very large number of citizens is one of regret that the attempt upon the dastard's life was not successful.

There are ten engineer corps in the field on the Georgia Pacific between Atlanta and the Mississippi river—six between Atlanta and Birmingham, two between Birmingham and Columbus, and two between Birmingham and Columbus, and two between Columbus and Greenville. The survey has been carried from Greenville to Winona on the Mississippi Central. The road is in operation from Greenville to Johnsonville, in Sunflower county, a distance of over thirty miles. About nineteen miles are about completed from Atlanta west, and twenty miles will be completed east from this city before the first day of January.

On the 13th day of December next all the various lines now composing the route between Atlanta and the Mississippi river will be consolidated under the name of the Georgia Pacific railroad company, of which General John B. Gordon is the president, and in which the Richmond and Danville railroad own a controlling interest. The Georgia Pacific long ago passed out of the speculative field into a certainty, as fast as hae and money could make it such, having become a necessity to the Richmond and Danville system. The road will be extended across the Mississippi river, probably to Texarkana, to reach the Texas and Pacific systems of roads. It will do a great work for this section.

Governor Thomas J. Jarvis, Senator Vance and State Treasurer J. M. Worth, as commissioners of the Western North Carolina railroad, met at Clinton, Sampson county. North Carolina, on Thursday, and extended the time of the Richmond and Danville company in order to give it time to complete the Western North Carolina railroad to Paint Rock and Pigeon river. Senator Vance, who has waged determined war against the Richmond and Danville, strenuously opposed the extension of time and urged a declaration of forfeiture of the contract, but Messrs, Jarvis and Worth voted against him. Chief-Engineer Wilson says he will complete the road by December 17. The questions of extension and forfeiture of contract have profoundly agitated the states.

A new schedule went into effect on the Virginia Midland yesterday, and an additional passenger train was put on, called the "Lightning Mail." This train will carry the southern mail, which formerly went by way of ttiebmond, and quickens mail transit between Baltimore, Lynchburg, Danville, etc.

THE JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE BALL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., November 22 .- The Union Jacksonville, Fla., November 22.—The Union publishes the order made on Saturday by Judge Walker, at Tallahassee, in the cases of Sherwin vs. Willis et al, and says editorially that the statement from Tallahassee, published in the morning papers of the 20th, to the effect that Judge Walker had held that the organization of the Jacksonville and Mobile company was illegal and void, and had granted a permanent injunction restraining the conveyance of the property to said company is incorrect. The motion to place the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile' rallroad in the hands of a receiver was denied and a temporary injunction was granted restraining the conveyance of property until final judgment in said cause.

WILMINGTON, November 22.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wilmington and Weldon, and Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta railroads were held here to-day. The forner declared a semi-annual dividend of three per cent payable January 4th, and the latter declared a dividend of three per cent payable January 10th. Hon. R. B. Bridgers was unanimously elected president of both companies. The reports of the officers show that both roads are in fine condition.

CONGRESSIONAL CLAMOR.

Analyzing the Complexion of the Next House of Representatives.

Washington, November 22.—Since the election in

New York it has been claimed that there were 147 traight republican members of the next house, otwithstanding the defeat of Astor. The official ist of members, as made up by the officers of the ouse and of those who are entitled to draw pay, ontains only 146 straight republicans, or one short house and of those who are entitled to draw pay, contains only 146 straight republicans, or one short of a majority of all. They are from the different states as follows: California, 2: Colorado, 1: Connecticut, 3; Illinois, 13; Indiana, 8; Iowa, 9: Kansas, 3; Kentucky, 1; Louisiana, 1: Maine, 3; Maryland, 1; Massachusetts, 10: Michigan, 9: Minnesota, 3: Missouri, 1; Nebraska, 1; New Hampshire, 3; New Jersey, 4; New York, 19; North Carolina, 1; Onto, 15: Oregon, 1: Pennsylvania, 1s; Rhode Island, 2; Tennessee, 3; Vermont, 3: Virginia, 2; Wisconsin, 6. This is the list of republicans as they will be recognized at the organization of the house. There are 136 straight democrats, eight greenbackers and one independent republican, Smythe, of Brooklyn. It is almost certain that five of the greenbackers, the two readjusters and Smythe will vote with the republicans, which will give them ten majority. The project of attempting a coalition between the democrats and greenbackers to secure the organization seems to have been abandoned, since Hewitt and several other democrats declared that they would have nothing to do with it. Congressman Reed, of Maine, another candidate for speaker, arrived here to-day, and talks as if he felt hopeful. Robeson, of New Jersey, says he is in invor of all eastern members uniting upon Reed as the candidate of the east, as he regards him as a stronger canalidate than Hiscock, There are only thirty-four members of the house in Washington, and of these only twenty are republicans. Of the twenty republicans, eight are candidates talk hopefull, but the truth is none of them as yet can give any estimate of the votes they will get outside of their respective a ates. They came here to meet and talk with members as they arrive, and so few have yet put in an appearance that the candidates are not much wiser than when they first came. Ex-Collector Thomas Murphy, of New York, who was recently defeated for congress, is here. He says the presi-dent tells nobody of his intentions about the cabi-net, and that no man living except the president bimself knows who will go into the cabinet.

Death of Hon. E. H. Worrill.

Peath of Hon. E. H. Worrill.

Hon. E. H. Worrill, an ex-judge of the superior courts of this state, died at his residence in Talbotton, at 90 clock, on Thursday uight last. Judge Worrill was about sixty-five years of age and was, we believe, a native of Georgia and Elbert county. He had resided in Talbot county for many years, was an accomplished lawyer and excellent judge. He has been for a number of years afflicted with asthma and his death is attributed to the effects of that painful malady. On the afternoon of his death he rode into town to a barber shop and was shaved. At supper he enjoyed a more than usually hearty meal and then retired to bed. Shortly thereafter he was heard by his wife to be breathing in a peculiar manner. She went to his assistance, was fruitless, and very soon the spirit described the body. His death will be heard of with many regrets.

Judge Thomas J. Simmons.

Judge Thomas J. Simmons, now judge of the Macon circuit, reached the city yesterday. He comes, by special appointment, to preside on the supreme court bench during the trial of certain causes. Judge Simmons is one of the younger jurists of Georgia who is making great fame for himself. He is richly endowed with learning and possessed of those sterling qualities of soul which adorn the occupant of the bench.

FACTS AND INCIDENTS OF THE DAY NOTED.

Some of the Coming Excursions Bound for Atlanta
The Day on the Grounds-The Concert of Sweet Sounds-Sight-Seeing Among the Exhibitors-The Crowds in the City.

The exposition continues on the high road of prosperity. It scored another big success yesterday. There are now so many people in Atlanta that the crowds are certain to be large every day in spite of adverse weather. Every other day this week has some feature of special interest, and promises a new lot of visitors. The crowds are all well housed and cared for in every respect. They seem to be contented and interested. The real boom of Atlanta and the exposition has fairly begun, and will continue to the end of the show.

Atlanta and Her Crowd.

Atlanta to-day contains more people than it ever held before. There are a great many people who have come here to stay the entire peried of the exposition. With this number as the basis of a crowd there have been additions all the while in the way of excursions from various points.

Since the railroads have reduced fares to cent a mile there has been a steady stream of visitors until the city is now one steady stream of visitors until the city is now one ceaseless scene of activity and pleasant excitement. All the hotels in the city are full and from the central hotels, people are turned away almost every day. But here comes in the ad vantage of the excellent preparations made by the committee on public comfort. Though the city is full there is no uncomfortable crowding of people or trouble in obtaining lodgings and fare. Rates, too, are remarkably low considering the crowds, and there are no complaints of "googling" because we have so many people in Every prospect points to a continuance of the or midst.

Every prospect points to a continuance of the crowd in its present or increasing proportions.

The exposition hotels and the encampments opposite, are now well supplied with guests, with many engagements for the days of the coming week. It is expected that Thursday there will be by far the best crowd that the exposition has had. The general holdsay of thanksgiving will bring out hosts of people from Atlanta, and the great excursions will be enough to give the city a gala appearance. No matter how many come there will be enough room in Atlanta for them and no trouble in finding it.

Macon and Augusta are well represented in Atlanta, Columbus, Rome, Athens, and, in fact, nearly every fity in the state has its party here. They all seem 'o rejoice in the success Atlanta has made of her great undertaking, and have visited the exposition with evident pleasure. In fact, Atlanta is on good terms with her neighbors, and to them all extends a hearty welcome.

A LETTER FROM MR. E. P. WILSON WHICH TELLS OF A

Below is published a letter from Mr. E. P. Wilson, general freight and passenger agent of the Cincinnati Southern railway, in which the organization of a large excursion from Cincinnati is discussed. The rate has been fixed at ten dollars for the round trip, and a very large crowd will doubtless come. The date fixed for the excursion is November 30th.

Mr. Wilson writes:

CINCINNATI SOUTHEEN RAILWAY, Office General Freight and Passenger Agent, Cincinnati, November 19, 1881—B. W. Wrenn, General Passenger Agent Western and Atlantic Railroad, Atlanta, 6a.—Dear Sir: I have your favor of November 16. We have in prospect an excursion upon the 20th, which has been extensively advertised throughout Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois, upona basis of 310 for the round trip, from Cincinnati to Atlanta and return, which as nearly approximates one cent permile as round figures can make it. We will give this a thorough trial, and if the results therefrom will warrant a repetition of the experiment, we will in all probability repeat it—assuring you that it is our intention to extend as great facilities to people to reach your exposition as the patronage received will warrant.

E. P. Wilson,
General Freight and Passenger Agent. Mr. Wilson writes:

A Pleasant Concert. Yesterday at 12 o'clock one of the largest crowds that has ever assembled at Judges's hall gathered there to hear the Knabe concert. The hall was simply filled to its utmost capacity. A magnificent Knabe piano and a handsome Steiff upright were upon the stand. The music was particularly good. The concert opened with an original fantasia on "Maryland My Maryland," by Mr. J. H. Derrick, which was greatly enjoyed. Miss Mabel Haynes, one of Atlanta's favorite singers, sang "Flower Paths" very sweetly. "Fifth Nocturno," by Lisberg, was played by Professor Hirscher, of Montgomery. "Huntsman's Horse" was sung by Miss Jennie Mims, of Atlanta, in a manner which pleased the audience greatly and secured for her a good round of appiause. A violin solo, "second concerto of De Bod." by Professor E. A. Schultze, of Atlanta, was grands by Professor E. A. Schultze, of Atlanta, was grands by Professor E. A. Tann hauser fantasia was played by Mcharn Schultze in a most delightful manner. Mr. Robert Pause, of Atlanta, sang Non E'Ver, and was heartily applauded. Kankel, a piano solo, by Miss Jennie Mims, was played in a most skillful manner. Postillion song, by Miss Mabel Haynes, was much enjoyed. The concert was given under the manage-Knabe piano and a handsome Steiff upright were enjoyed. The concert was given under the manage ment of Mr. E. Knabe and Mr. C. M. Steiff.

Educational Day.

A GRAND TIME FOR TO-MORROW crowd at the exposition will be overwhelming. The pupils of about twenty colleges are expected to be here. Among those that have announced their in-tention to come are Mercer university at Macon, Lacy Cobb of Athens, Emory at Oxford, Dallon female college, Shorter college at Rome, Bowdoin college in Carroll county, and others. Several col-leges from South Carolina will send delegates, among them the college at Newberry. The school children of Atlanta will be out in force, and a fine-crowd is expected. The programme of exercises for the day oas not been made up yet, but we will probably be able to publish it to-morrow.

Rome and the Exposition.

cursion, sent to the exposition regularly, more than & thousand visitors every week. Yesterday Mr Staith, of the Rome railroad, wrote Mr. B. W. Wrenn that on next Saturday, Rome military day, about one hundred and twenty-five of the citizens of that place would come down with the local military companies and asked that rates be arranged. Mr. Wrenn telegraphed him that the usual excursion rate of two dollars would be allowed, so that we may expect a fine crowd from Rome again on Saturday.

The display of tobacco is very attractive, and embraces chewing and smoking tobacco and cigarettes. The display of granite is very attractive. It includes some fine Seotch granite and specimens of leopardile found only in North Carolina.

It is during Mr. McGehee's absence under the charge of Mr. Thomas Love. Mr. McGehee will be here probably to-day and will in all likelihood remain several days.

The Old North State.

WHAT NORTH CAROLINA HAS AT THE EXPOSITION.

The old north state should be proud of her exhibit at the exposition. The legislature of the commissioner of agriculture to make a thorough display of whose the proportiation. In a mention of the commission of the proportial town the commission of the propo ing teachers of the Spool cotton kindergarten, who naturally think because their row of seats always contains a full class—that they have the largest attendance. The three spool cotton displays at the exposition are all well gotten up, and far in advance of the displays made by either firm in Philadelphia or Paris. The visitors recognize this and no one comes without looking at and far in advance of the displays made by either firm in Philadelphia or Paris. The visitors recognize this, and no one comes without looking at all of them and feeling that they have received the full worth of their entrance fee were there not many other interesting objects to see. But it is hard to tell how the company, who use the Weild eight-spooler, and have ordered some Connant machines for their own use, can say "that their machinery is fifty years in advance of that in use by any other thread manufacturer, and is admitted to be such by all competitors," when two years ago, at the Cincinnati exposition, they put their Weild eight-spooler the identical machine they now exhibit at the Atlanta Cotton exposition, calling it "one of their many refinements," into competition with the Conant winder, and the result was that the Conant machine took the prize medal. Doubtless some one may yet invent a better winder that the Conant, but doubtless it has not yet been accomplished. The ladies of the south may rest assured that the goods used by their grandmother's will be kept up to the highest standard in this age of progress and improvement. The hardest test than any spool cotton can be put to is on its use on sewing machines run by steam power which we show and on the working of button holes by hand or machine, and for these purposes J. & P. Coats' thread has certainly no equal.

The International cotton exposition is an educator in many senses. It has brought before the southern people in compact and comprehensible shapes the best results of American ingenuity and skill applied to every machine, implement and tool that has any relation, near or remote, to the great staple of the south. It presents in striking and significant contrast old processes and the latest methods of doing the same work, and teaches the value of labor-saving devices to a people very few of whom have ever taken that subject into consideration. But the lesson of this exposition are not solely for the south. The display made by the various railroads in the two buildings occupied by them ought to be seen and thoroughly studied by appitalists, by statesmen, and by every young northern man who wishes to find a good place for starting in life. These exhibits spread before the eyes a realistic picture of the south, and suggest the boundless possibilities of the future of this favored region. Correspondence New York Tribune

The Georgia "Cracker" is a good deal of a yankee. Some one has said that if you put a "cracker" and a Vermont yankee on a ruft together and send them floating down stream, in less than twenty-four hours the "cracker" would own the raft and the yankee would be working for him. It is a shrewd race, and is fast learning what it insists on calling yankee tricks of trade. Out in the country you will find the "cracker" seagerly discussing the best kind of gin and the most economical way of picking and bailing cotton. These questions, curiously enough, ace just beginning to dawn on the race that has carried on cotton culture all these years. To go among them seems like visiting a new country in itsinfoney. They do not know much more about raising their crops than they did before the war. But a healthy sign is that they are learning, and a healthier sign still is that northern men who have upbraided them as thriftless, come down here and find them not half so thriftless as they appear to be from a distance. It is true that their "unfortunate surroundings and the institution of slavery have kept their agriculture back, but it is not so backward as might be expected. I find the farmers here talking very much as the farmers of New England talk. More than that, I find apparently a good deal more intelligence among the farmers of this part of Georgia than can be found among some of the hill towns of Massachusetts. A very eminent statistician and economist confessed to me, only a few days ago, that he had discovered the same thing. He found thoroughbred men of the south farther advanced in many ways than are the hill farmers of New England, for the best blood of many of the towns that once sent out the brains and muscle of the new world has gone into the cities or into rich lands of the west. In the south are to be found the best representatives of their race. They must not be measured by what they have accomplished in agriculture or in manufacturing. These are their new employments, or at least

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY OF CANADA.—
There seems at last to be a prospect of a termination to the "war of rates," which has raged so furiously during the past four months to the great injury of American and Canadian railway securities. At the outset of the contest it was impossible to understand the reasons for its commencement, and, now that it is virtually over it is equally difficult, even by the light of experience, to discover any benefits arising from it except for those individuals who have profited by speculation for the fall. The Grand Trunk company has come out of the struggle with much less damage than has been generally predicted, and in many respects it may be said to have gained, its importance as a through line to Chicago having been demonstrated and its popularity as a passenger route greatly increased. Add to this, certain negotiations have resulted which are likely to culminate beneficially for the Grand Trunk. The fall which has taken place in the value of these securities during the progress of the recent strife has been principally brought about by speculations becentifies during the progress of the recent strife has been principally brought about by speculation elders who have not been frightened out of their stocks are therefore scarcely likely to sell now that the immediate prospects of this progressive line are brightening.

MEXICAN RAILWAY.—The remarkable progress their stocks are therefore scarcely likely to sell now that the immediate prospects of this progreesive line are brightening.

MEXICAN RAHLWAY.—The remarkable progress of this railway in recent years has just been further demonstrated by the announcement of a dividend on the ordinary stock at the rate of no less than eight per cent per annum, the most favorable estimates having ranged from six to seven per cent. In expectation of even such a distribution as seven per cent, it was confidently asserted the ordinary stock would command a value of $105, and as the price so far has only advanced to 99 cum dividend, there is a very considerable margin for profit for those who purchase now, as on the basis of an eight per cent dividend the stock should be worth at least $110 to $115. The prospects for the future are decidedly 260d, as reduced working expenses and the steady growth of traffic receipts point to the maintenance of the present dividend, while completent authorities who are familiar with the rapid development which is now going on in Mexico assert that in the near future the dividend will inevitably grow to 10 per cent, as the carriage of material for the new railways must continue for many years. Thus, of the 1,200 miles projected only 55 are at this moment completed, and when the entire system is opened this line will secure a largely-augmented traffic. Without regard, however, to such a sanguine estimate. I consider that the position and prospects of the railway are so good that in continuing to recommend investments in its securities I am as fully justified as at any time during the past three years, when, as each stage of its development am as fully justified as at any time during the pas three years, when, as each stage of its developmen has been reached, I have confidently advised their am as fully justified as at any time during the past three years, when, as each stage of its development has been reached. I have confidently advised their parchase.

PHILADELPHIA AND READING RAHADAD.—The recent address from Mr. Gowen to the shareholders should be carefully studied, as it contains a very clear statement of the position and prospects of the railway. It must be somewhat tantalizing to the proprietors that, but for the factious opposition of a certain section of their body, the plans proposed by Mr. Gowan would have now resulted in the payment of a dividend of six per cent on the ordinary shares. No donth the will receive the support of the majority of shareholders at the election in January next. A feature of the past month has been the renewed demand for the deferred income bonds, which have advanced to I premium.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING.—It is very evident that the popularity of electric lighting is steadily increasing. Its application for illuminating purposes has now far advanced beyond the merely experimental stage. The manifold demonstrations of the excellence of "the light of the future" indicate that even own in its very infrancy, it can favorably compete with gas, with this further advantage, viz: that it can be applied where gas cannot possibly be utilized. Thus, as distinct from the illumination of houses, streets, embankments, bridges, open spaces, theaters, railway stations, and other large interiors, such as mills, factories, etc. the electric light has been found suitable for mines, for railway carriages on long journeys, for lighthouses, and for ships. Its utility in each of these capacities has been fully and satisfactority tested.

Apart, however, from the general interest manifested as to the distinctive merits of gas and the electric light, they are of considerable importance to the investing public, who of course very properly regard the rival claims from the strictly commercial view of relative cost. Upon this special point some valuable information was afforded last week at the

WOUND ON WHITE SPOOLS

The manufacturers of this Spool Cotton have now opened in full blast.

They have now put in motion their New Automatic Spooling Machinery, is one which of the greater echanical marvels ever produced.

This machine can be seen from 10 a. m. till 4 p. m. EVERY DAY. One of these machines will spool or wind over six thousand spools of cotton every day.

It spools or winds EIGHT spools of cotton at a time.

It lifts up the 8 empty spools, fastens the thread on each spool and measures out the 200 yards on all ne 8 spools at the same time. When it has wound and measured the 200 yards, it then cuts the thread on each of the 8 spools,

It next makes a little incision or slit in the edge of each spool, fastens the thread into the slit, and inally drops the spools, ready for the market, and begins anew with 8 more empty spools. The incredulous are sometimes inclined to think that there is something supernatural about this achine, it is so wonderfully perfect and complete in every movement, and yet so simple that one young lady is all that is required to attend to this machine. The manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. have also put in motion their new Automatic Ticketing whinery which is another great triumph of mechanical skill and ingenuity. This machine is registered to put the tickets on both ends of the spools at the rate of 170 per minute, 102,000 every day, and will do the work in a very superior manner to anything of the kind in use.

This marvel will be in operation and can be seen at the hours named below: 10:00, 10:30, 11:00, 11:30 m. and 2:00, 2:30, 3:00, 3:30 p. m. They have also introduced BOX MAKING and several other interesting processes in connection with the manufacture of spool cotton. They have on exhibition the handsomest case of Spool Cotton ever seen in Georgia, standing 20 et high, and got up at a cost of nearly two thousand dollars. They also exhibit several beautiful cases of Colored Spool Cottons, which for delicacy of tint and rilliancy of color have never been equaled by any other thread manufacturers.

The manufacturers of O. N. T. also exhibit their 100 Mile Monster Spools. The feat of windng thread on such enormous spools has never been successfully accomplished by any other thread makers. They have also on exhibit 10,000 Japanese Work Boxes, each box containing 8 spools of O. N.

T. Cotton, which they will offer to the public at the low price of 50 cents each.

The manufacturers of CLARK'S O. N. T. SPOOL COTTON are preparing to distribute, FREE OF CHARGE, 100,000 sample boxes of this celebrated thread, which will be prepared in the building. The manufacturers of O. N T. are in the proud position of being the largest manufacturers of spool cotton in the world, giving employment to upwards of 6,000 operatives.

The enormous increase in the demand for this celebrated thread has compelled the manufacturers to build an addition to their present works in Newark, N. J., and next year, when completed, will give There are several brands of CLARK'S THREADS, and there is a very general impression amongs ners in the south that O. N. T. is wound on black spools. In justice to themselves the manufacturers of O. N. T. beg to correct this very general mistake, and would state that the O. N T. is wound on WHITE SPOOLS, and the bottom label of every spool is branded O. N. T. NONE OTHER IS GENUINE. At this time the manufacturers of CLARK'S O. N. T. SPOOL COTTON are making a special effort to introduce this thread more universally in the south, and would esteem it a great favor if every ady would give it a fair trial and judge of its merits. It is the popular thread in all other parts of this great country, and it only requires to be bette known to become the popular sewing thread of the south.

These Spectacles are manufactured from "MIN UTE CRYSTAL PEBBLES" melted together and are called DIAMOND on account of their hardness and brilliancy.

Having been tested with the polariscope, the diamond lenses have been found to admit fifteen per cent less heated rays than any other pebble.

They are ground with great scientific accuracy, are free from chromatic aberrations, and produce a brightness and distinctness of vision not before attained in spectacles.

THE CONSTITUTION

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER

THE Mexican president is sick. FRANCE is growing more favorable to American pork. WHEAT was playing havoe in Chicago on vesterday.

THE Georgia Pacific is steadily pushing its way toward the Mississippi. ARKANSAS is winning quite a reputation for deeds of darkness. Murders and like crimes are of daily occurrence. THE man who attempted to assassinate the assassin has been bound over for trial. He seems to be a regular Bill Jones.

THE interest in the exposition was fully sustained on yesterday. The arrivals by rail are becoming somewhat marvelous.

If the Guiteaus were all as crazy as Mr. Scoville represents them to have been, he exhibited a great deal of courage when he married into the family.

ROBERT SHELTON MACKENZIE, of Philadelphia, a writer and journalist of, much note, died in that city on Monday. He was for many years connected with the Philadelphia

THE first train to cross the Mexican border did its work on Monday, on the Texas Mexican railroad. We may now look toward the time when cowboy and greaser will lie down together in peace.

Russian nihilism is again growing troublesome as winter approaches. The czar should adopt the American Indian policy, and furnish the malcontents with blankets and prowinder for the cold term.

THE duke of Cambridge, who commands the English army because he happens to be the queen's cousin, does not like the army'reforms proposed by the ministry. The old man will have to submif, however.

Mr. Scoville consumed the time of the court yesterday in presenting the line of defense to be pursued in the trial of Guiteau. He intends to press as the most prominent feature the insanity of the prisoner.

A SINGULAR war is reported from an In' diana' town where a two day's battle was fought by the adherents of two rival saloons, and in which one man was beaten to death. This adds another novelty to crime.

An impression has gained ground abroad that the exposition will be continued beyond the date fixed for its closing-the 31st of December. This is incorrect, as the exposition will certainly close on the day named. People who wish to attend should not be misled by tellectual intolerance.

In the interview with Guiteau, reported in himself to be a queer compound of cunning and knavery. It is probable that a more complete rascal of his peculiar stripe never existed. He is too shrewd to be insane, and just insane enough to be well qualified to wear the hangman's noose.

Or the twenty republican members of the house who have arrived in Washington, eight are candidates for the speakership. They are all confident of success, and smilingly greet the new arrivals. It is admitted that the republicans, by purchase and otherwise, will be able to elect their candidate by ten majority. All the democrats can do is to stand on the outside and look anxiously over the fence. THE LANIER MEMORIAL FUND.

The movement which has been inaugurated in Baltimore to secure a memorial fund to be used for the benefit of the poet's wife and children should receive substantial recognition at the hands of the southern people. A commemorative meeting was held in Balti- its good results and its evil outcome; and ir more on the 22d of October, under the auspi- this respect it was not different from the ces of the Johns Hopkins's university, in civilization of New England. Even if it were which he held a lecturer's chair, and at that otherwise, its striking contrasts and charmeeting a full local committee was appointed, together with a co-operating committee of distinguished men and women in other who write novels and otherwise make the lit states, to undertake the collection of the proposed fund. The following from the cir cular issued, deserves reproduction:

The untimely death of the late Sidney Lanier removed from the sphere of American letters one of the rarest spirits and most accomplished and lovable of men, just as his work was beginning to re ceive a full national recognition, and to yield a livelihood for his family whose future welfare wa his earliest manhood his life was a struggle with the disease which finally ended his career; and all his literary work was accomplished under conditions al weakness and mental anxiety which would have utterly paralyzed any but a truly heroic soul. But throughout the stress of his auxious and suffering life, he bore his burden with unfailing cheerfuliness, a brave reticence, and with such a winning charm and gentleness of temper as to endear himself to every one who had the privilege of his acquaintance. In recognition of his genius and the beauty of his personal character, it is the desire it is thought that none will be so fitting, or would have been so grateful to him whose

the brightness and stay of his home, as a memorial fund which would ensure the support of his widow and the proper education of his children.

General John B. Gordon represents the co operating committee in Georgia, and it is to be hoped that the call of the committee will meet with a liberal response in the poet's na tive state.

LITERARY DEVELOPMENT IN THE SOUTH In a recent issue of the Augusta Evening News we find the following under the title of

Southern Books and Southern Authors "Southern Books and Southern Authors:"
The southern people do not buy and read the best books written by its own people. For instance, Mr. Paul H. Hayne's poems-have sold better in the north than in the south. The same is the case with the works of the late Sidney Lanier. We have no doubt that Mrs. Burnett's excellent novels, and Mr. Cable's most unique and original short stories and novels are read much more in the north than in his own native Louisiana. And so, too, with "The Felmurs." Miss Elliott's novel, and Dr. Southall's able works, and possibly ex-President Davis's great work in defense of the south. The southern people cannot be said to be a reading people, and hence their best home authors are neglected. "Uncle Remus" has shared a better fate. His sayings are very popular.

The condition here hinted at is not to be oured by either criticism or complaint, but it is worth studying. Unsympathetic and superficial people are apt to conclude that it is one of the manifestations of a lack of culture, but no conclusion could be further from the truth. At the beginning of the war there were more and better equipped libraries in the south than in all the rest of the country. They combined collections of the classics in politics, theology and literature-especially in politics-and accumulations of controve sial pamphlets, bound and unbound. In polities and political controversy there has never been a more highly cultured commu nity than the people of the south. It is true, perhaps, that we saw only one side of the great controversy in which the triot. country has been engaged for nearly a century, but that side we have studied carefully and exhaustively. Literature was not a study, but a recreation, while the profession of politics absorbed the best thought, the broadest culture and the highest genius of the section. There has been and there is now no lack of appreciation of literary effort, but there is a lack of interest in literature that does not contain the spice of controversy or the sugges tion thereof. The controversial spirit is inherited. Mere discussion has no attraction for the average reader. As at a cock-fight, everybody is expected to take sides in a discussion on the theory, perhaps, that it is better to be wrong and have some fun than to stand around endeavoring to see who is right. This has resulted in what may be called political culture. Our legislatures are compose of men who have vast ideas on the subject of government and who are given to solving grave political problems, but who are not well versed in the real business of legislation.

The basis of all literary development is critcism, giving to the latter term its largest meaning. We have not only not had the leisure nor the inclination to engage in serious literary effort, but we have not had the patience to submit to the criticism which is the basis of all enduring or endurable literature Intolerance of this sort is not confined to the south. Recently a young lady went to Cape Cod to teach school. Finding there attractive literary types, she put them in a book, and the result is a protest on the part of these worthy citizens, which has taken the shape of a number of libel suits brought against the publisher. This is an extreme manifestation of that spe cies of intolerance which is impatient of criticism. Mr. Cable, in "The Grandissimes," drew a charming literary picture of Creole life in Louisiana sixty or seventy years ago, and as a result, all the Creoles are in arms, and Mr. Cable has been made the victim of a number of amusing lampoons. He wrote a story based on the marriage of an octoroon girl to a white nan-a very tender and touching story in every respect-and some of our critics pounced apon him as the apostle of miscegenation. Criticism of this sort is neither sound nor just in fact, it is not criticism, but a peculiar in result of this intolerance has bee altogether in the direction of repression our telegraphic columns, the assassin shows In the literature which we are willing to call our own, we muster as cava liers and knights-errant in arms against the rest of the world. Only the other day some enterprising person in Baltimore sent THI Constitution the prospectus of a new liter ary paper-the excuse for the venture being that the press of the north is largely in the hands and under the control of "our ene-'mies." Now, with all our intolerance, we o the south are not idiots, and a paper established on such a basis is a failure from the start. It is too late in the day to magnify a politica opponent into a personal enemy. Human nature won't stand the strain. The truth of the matter is, no people or earth have less reason to be sensitive in the directions we have pointed out. Our civilization had its lights and its shadows. It was neither wholly good, as we persuaded ourselves to believe, nor wholly bad, as unin formed critics persuaded themselves to be lieve. It had its strength and its weaknessacteristics could not hope to escape the observations of the critics and satirists erature of the country. Our home-made nov as he assuredly will, that we are invested with a large share of what (for convenience) may be called human nature.

THE Hon. Patrick Walsh is now completely in love with Atlanta. He moves through the exposition like a thing of life. THE Washington Post has an illustration of the ecent attempt to assassinate the prison van in which juiteau was temporarily concealed. If the perpective of the chromo is correct, the man on hor ack was seven miles from the van when he fired the fatal shot. It appears to us that he might have crept -but these are mere speculative fancies.

THE long-suffering citizens of St. Louis are no engaged in suin, the newspapers for typographical errors. This shows that the old personal issues be tween the parties are gradually fading away.

THERE are two or three inflamed critics of Atanta who think Georgia ought to secede because General sherman was bold enough to visit the exposition. Now that General Sherman has retired, it is to be hoped the inflamed critics will fold the bloody shirt and allow Georgia to remain in a com-paratively peaceful condition. All true patriose ow agree that we can have more genuine fun in the union than out of it.

MR. J. STANLEY BROWN, private secretary of the ate President Garfield, is about to go into the banking business in Washington. Mr. Brown is a very young man, but he seems to have accumulated just enough money to keep him off the lecture plat

It is a very disagreeable day when a St. Louis ditor isn't assaulted with a libel suit. In view of this fact, it is not surprising that the newspapers of that city are chiefly devoted to the disc foreign topics. We have read with much pleasure Colonel John A. Cockerill's essay entitled "Why is iambetta One-Eyed?"

GUITEAU is treated with unusual courtesy. He will probably take advantage of this to give the judge a few diffs in the stomach before the trial has proceeded much further. This is the outlook now.

THE strenuous opposition of the organs to the sucess of the democratic party is based upon a whole-ome fear that a census of the republican cranks will be ordered.

If the nice new administration has any regard for Mr. Tilden, it will lose no time in sending the Hon. Montgomery Blair to a foreign shore. An excuse can be found in the fact that the Hon. Mr. Blair i n enthusiastic Mahone man.

Now that the cold weather is coming on, and laws ennis is no longer profitable, the English colony at Rugby will find it difficult to make a support.

The symposium of surgeons in the North American Review leaves the case of Mr. Garfield muddler than ever.

GUITEAU says he is a patriot. The words of this great political leader should not be taken too liter ally. What he means is that he is a republican pa THE platform of Mr. Garfield's assassin commends itself to the organs and bosses of the republican party. It is brief and to the point: "Arthur is president and I am a stalwart." According to Mr. Barker, of Maine, the factory managed by ex-Governor Bullock is badly in need of protection. Is Mr. Barker right? We know o no other reason why the ex-governor should be spread-eagling in a convention of monopolists at Chicago. THE Cincinnati Enquirer says that Guiteau is 'liable at any moment to renew his application for the Austrian mission." That is to say, if his conciction is left to the stalwarts. THE New York Tribune takes occasion to say that has no need to use Grant as a go-between in fix-

I HEARD the other day a good story of Jay Gould, the American railway king. A London broker went over to New York and solicited an interview with him. The broker explained to him what vast operations might be made on the London stock exchange, and suggested that he should do business for him. Gould reflected, and then said: "What you say is, no doubt, true; I see only one objection; I never speculate."—London Truth.

M. GAMBETTA was 44 years old on Sunday October 30, and is, therefore, in the full prime of the working tide of life—just two years under what the duke of Wellington and Napoleon were, each of them, at Waterloo. Before banking hours the next day Gould had borrowed $2,000,000 from Russell Sage. This tided him over the crisis and he made many thousands by the combination. George Law, who died a millionaire on Friday, began life in Troy, New York, without a friend in the world. One day, while passing along River street, a hod-carrier who was carrying bricks for the masons on an unfinished building, fell from the ladder and broke his leg. Young Eaw stepped up to the foreman and said: "Can I have that man's place?" "Did you ever carry a hod?" asked the foreman. "No!" "You will break your leg, and, perhaps, your neck." Another national bank is gone. This time it is the Pacific, of Boston. The officers of the institution loaned a large amount of its funds to a speculator in wildcat mining and railroad securities, such, we regret to say, as figure conspicuously in the daily dealings of the stock exchange of the plous city of Boston. It is the old story over again—the bank loaned too much money to one man, and was not properly secured. The institution had been struggling under a heavy load for a long time past, its credit was not good, and the Boston clearing house would not admit it to membership. And yet the bank examiner did not find it out, and the bank was allowed to go on in its speculative career until yesterday, when it collapsed, and caused a financial disturbance both in Boston and this city. These constant failures of national banks through the gross negligence or utter incapacity of bank examiners are becoming too frequent, and the question of a reform in bank examinations should engage the attention of congress at the approaching session. gathering was the delivery by Dr. H. V. M. Miller of an account of his visit to the Methodist ecumenical council, recently held in London.

He spoke with his usual grace and fluency, and the address was remarkably interesting. He took London as the Mecca of all protestant faith, and asked his congregation to ramble with him for a while through that city—a city so great that it would stretch in length from Atlanta to Marietta and in width from Peachtree creck to East Point. Starting from this point and taking different routes one can ind the ancient landmarks of every leading Protestant faith. One route leading Protestant faith. One route leads out through many scenes of interest to the famous "Yellow Leg" school, founded by the roung King Edward the Sixth. SOME WRONG IMPRESSIONS

It has been reported by some correspondents from this city that the International cotton exposition will not close on the 31st of December, as advertised. This impression, we learn, is gaining ground in many parts of the country, north and south. In some instances, this belief is determining many people to postpone their contemplated visits to the exposition until after the holiday season.

In reply to the inquiry of a Constitution reporter, made in the executive offices of the exposition yes terday, the statement was emphatic that the exposi-tion would not continue a day longer than December 31st. Many letters making inquiry as to th closing date have been received, and in every in stance replied to in like terms.

The reasons given for adhering to the advertised date are obvious and perti-nent. In the first place the contract with the exhibitors extends only to January 1, 1882, after which date they are no longer under agreement to exhibit and may, at any moment there after, tear down their displays and take away their

In the second place, the exposition would hardly be worth the keeping open, unless all the exhibito agreed mutually to such action, and it is already nnounced by many that their arrangements will ot permit them to remain here after January 1st. On the idea of remaining only to that date they have made contracts and arrangements that absolutely bar any agreement on their part to stay here

In the third place it is hardly likely that the present favorable railroad rates, which will continue up to the 31st of December, can be extended beyond that date. There are other considerations of personal omfort, business, etc., that arge the managers even to close the gates after the contemplated term has een fully accomplished.

Under all the circumstances it will be at once en that there could be but little inducement to hange the date and prolong the exposition. It is ow the pronounced success of the American peoole, in its line, and as such should be able, even be ween this and the last day of the year, to attract many housands of visitors. It is due to the public, there ore, that they should understand the situation and learn that there is little room for delay in viewing the wonders now on show at Ogletorpe park in this

There are some $30.000 worth of real estate in and around Atlanta, belonging to the assets and soon to be sold. Then there is the state's share in the $50,000 of insurance money on the old rolling mill, and soon to be paid: that will make about $13,000 additional. Much has been said and written about the varius proceedings of the last general assembly. The members have been both lauded for wise eco mies and abused for reckless extravagance and

In the hope of reducing the discussion to figures a reporter of The Constitution, yesterday, visited the office of Comptroller-General Wright and obtained the following data with reference to the expinses of the two legislatures that have been elected and held sessions since the adoption of the new constitution of 1877. Both of these, it will be remembered, although elected to serve under the blennial session clause of that instrument, held each air extra session, making practically four sessions within the four rears.

The board of police commissioners convened in called session last night and was called to order by Chairman Dodd.

The resignation of James Dennard, a member of the police force, was read and accepted.

Patrolman M. N. Holland plead not guilty to the charge of illegally receiving money from a citizen of Atlanta, and after a careful trial was acquitted.

Patrolman Z. B. Moon was arraigned for trial upon the charge of being uncer the influence of liquor while in his uniform, and for conduct unbecoming an officer at the same time in the station house. Upon the first charge he was voted not guilty, but upon the second found guilty and suspended for one day. Chief Connolly was instructed to communicate the sentence to the officer and at the same time to reprimand him for his conduct.

J. A. Green, a supernumerary, was elected to the position made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Dennard.

POLICE POINTS.

A Few Facts Gleaned from the Station House Books-The wet weather yesterday made the liquor trade lively and in the afternoon and evening the police had a busy time. The city docket at a late hour last night showed that eighty two cases had been entered. These comprise all kinds of petty o.enses, and by them quite a revenue will be derived through the recorder.

The state decket does not show up so well, yet it evidences good work on the part of the police force. Tom Miller was taken in upon the charge of largeny. Some time during the morning Miller and an associate entered Goldsmith & Hughey's hat store on Peachtree street and while the associate engaged the attendance of the clerk Miller secreted a fine hat. They then went to Atkins, McKeldin & Co.'s, further up the same street, and attempted to play the same game, but were detected and detained until Officers Moss and Foute same up and carried them to the station house. Miller's statement satisfied the officers that his companion knew nothing of the theft, and he was recessed. lively and in the afternoon and evening the police leased.

Henry Cooper is detained until a warrant charging him with purjury can be sworn out. Officer Pound prefers the charge and says that Cooper, who is a dark skin citizen, swore falsely in the recorder's Anna Thompson is charged with stealing some clothing from a Mrs. Werner, on Crew street.

We can safely say their specimens in Art building, exposition grounds, and at branch office, far surpass anything of the kind ever before seen in Atlants. They have just received a fine crayon of Senator Joseph E. Brown and one of Mr. J. W. Ryckman, secretary of the exposition. The latter has been hung in Director-General Kimball's office, at exposition grounds. Senator Brown's is on exhibition grounds. Senator Brown's is on exhibition at 28 Whitehall street. Mr. E. M. Pine, who represents Messrs. Gilbert & Bacon here, both at the exposition and the branch office, will take pleasure in showing these and other fine

What the Papers Say.

Columbus Enquirer.

Last Saturday Winaco orning, Anderson Bruce and Osburn Pitts, all colored, came to Columbus in a wagon. They work on a plantation owned by Prof. G. A. Granberry, near Cataula depot, in Harris county. In the evening before they started for home, they supplied themselves with whiskey, and had not traveled far before they were under its influence. When they reached Nance's shop, six miles north of the city. Osburn Pitts, who is about eighteen years of age, said he could drink more whisky than any man in the crowd. They went into James Denson's grog shop and a pint of whisky was placed on the counter. No one else paying for it, the boy paid the bill and drank it down. He then called for more whisky, and another pint was placed before him, which he immediately drank. This, with what he had already drank, made him unconscious of all surroundings, and he was thrown into the wagon and the three started for home. Willaw laid down by the side of the drunken man and left Anderson to drive. It seems they knew nothing more about the trip until they arrived at home about 12 o'clock Saturday night. When they went to remove Osburn from the wagon they found that he was dead. Sunday morning W. H. Themps, J. P., was made acquainted with the facts and sunmoned a jury to hold an inquest over the body. The facts above were drawn out by the testimony, and the jury rendered the following verifiet: We, the jury, find that Osborn Pitts came to his death by drinking whisky, bought from James Benson in Muscogee county. We further recommend that Denson be presented to the grand jury now in session in the city of Columbus.

Valdosta Times.

Mr. J. E. Dye, living near the Long Pond, drank almost un ownee of laudanum last Thursday morn-

Wr. J. E. Dye, living near the Long Pond, drank almost an ounce of laudanum last Thursday morning, and when we last heard he was in a very critical condition. He was in town Wednesday and purchased the drug from Messrs. Paine & Remington, but no one suspected before the poison was taken that he contemplated such an act, nor does any one know now of any reason why he should have attempted his own life. Insanity is the only theory that as yet can be established.

Mr. Joe Howell, a cropper on Mr. J. B. Jones's plantation, near Valdosta, died suddenly of heart disease last Monday night. He had been well all day and at his work, ate a hearty supper, and was smoking his pipe, when he was suddenly stricken down. His daughter saw him fall, and before she could get help to put him into bed, he died. He moking his pipe, when he was suddenly stricken lown. His daughter saw him fall, and before she bould get help to put him into bed, he died. He was a hard working man, had made a good crop, said all expenses of cultivation and reat, and had til his corn and some cotton clear.

Andrew Wilkins, a very respectable colored man, iving near Ray's mills, in Berrien county, hapsened to the misfortune to have his house and touschold and kitchen furniture burned last fuesday morning. He is reported to us to be a aithful and hard-working man and it is proposed by some of his white friends to help him in his inancial distress. The cause of the fire is unknown. We learn also that Messrs. Ray & Roberts suffered he loss of some seed oats and farming implements which happened to be stored in the house.

Mr. Eugene Saffold was seriously cut by Jerry Head, colored, last Monday night, while resenting an insult. The knife entered the left breast, just above the heart and bore downward. The wound was dressed by Dr. Hollingsworth, who stated that it was two and a half inches deep. Mr. saffold is very heavy muscled in the chest, and but for this the wound may have been fatal. We are glad that it is no worse and hope that he will soon recover. The negro, who is represented to be the most insulting of his tribe, escaped. He could and should have been arrested by the deputy marshal, who was near the scene of difficulty. Such secondrels will continue to infest the city until officers are quicker in apprehending them. We learn that Mr. Few, the deputy marshal, excused himself on the ground that he could not make the arrest without a warrant. He should be better posted. As soon as Mr. Daniel, the marshal, arrived, the had been to supper) both officers instituted seater for the negro, but he had flown.

FROM OUR REPORTERS' POCKET CAMERAS.

Testerday in the City-What was Done and Said by Town as Taken on the Fly--In and About the Courts and Departments.

THE ACME OPERA COMPANY.—This company will return to Atlanta, and give entertainments on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, including a matince on Saturday. They should be well patronized.

SICK POLICEMAN.—Officer Lynch, of the Atlanta police force, has been confined to his home for several days with typhoid fever. Since Monday his condition has been exceedingly critical, and grave doubts of his recovery are entertained.

SEEING THE CITY.—Yesterday evening Hon. Ferdinand C. Latrobe, ex-mayor of Baltimore, was shown the city by Hon. W. L. Calhoun, ex-mayor of Atlanta. When Mr. Calhoun visited Baltimore about two years ago he was shown the city by Mr. Latrobe.

It is a District.—In chambers yesterday, Judge Hillyer considered the petition of citizens to declare the creation of the 500 militia district by the county commissioners, filegal, and after hearing the at-torney's for the complainant and respondent sus-tained the act creating the new district.

STEALING A Horse.—Hiram Westbrook, who lives near Elberton, reached Atlanta yesterday in pursuit of a horse which was stolen from him Saturday night last. Mr. Westbrook discovered his loss in a few hours, and succeeded in getting a trace of the thief, which he followed to Atlanta.

Pyrotecunic Display.—To-night Mr. H. P. Dethil, the Cincinnati pyroteconist, will give an exhibition in front of the Kimball house. To-morrow night he will give another display at his grounds near the old rolling mill. Tickets may be had at Phillips & Crews.

A DEAD SOLDIER.—A detachment of the Fifth artillery yesterday escorted the remains of Edward J. Corrigan to the national cemetery at Marietta for burial. Corrigan was a member of battery F. Fifth artillery, and died yesterday morning in the hospital at the barracks of typhoid fever. He had been sick just two weeks.

Its Birth Day.—Invitations to the celebration of the eleventh anniversary of the Gate City Fire com-pany are out. On Thursday evening next, an an-niversary ball will be given at their engine house, corner of Foundry and Marietta streets. The floor managers are E. Van Winkle, L. S. Morris and J. H. Starke, and the committee of hrrangements are W. A. Fuller, Jos. Sharp and W. J. Withers.

BADLY INJURED.—Yesterday as the Air-Line passenger train was rounding a curve, just this side of Lula City, a white man, who was standing on the platform, lost his balance and fell to the ground. The man was under the influence of liquor and was cautioned by Conductor Sims, but disregarded the advice. He came from near Elberton and was en route to Atlanja. His injuries consisted of several bad bruises and a broken arm. He returned home yesterday.

Marrier,—At the residence of Mr. Elam Johnson, on Ivy street, Mr. James L. Logan, Jr., was married to Miss Viola Wilbanks last night at seven o'clock, the Rev. C. A. Evans officiating. Mr. Logan for some time past has been book-keeper for Thomas M. Clarke & Co., of this city, and by strict attention to business has won a name of which he may be proud. His bride, who is a nicee of Mr. Johnson, is well known as one of the most beautiful and accomplished ladies in Atlanta. There were no cards.

OFF FOR TEXAS.—Yesterday at one o'clock the Rev. Dr. A. T. Spalding and family left via New Orleans, for Galveston, Texas, where he goes to assume charge of the Baptist church of that city. The time for their departure has been known for some days, and many of their warmest friends accompanied them to the depot to say good-bye. The parting between the doctor and those with whom he has been so closely associated for years, was an affecting one and many tears were shed. In leaving Atlanta Dr. Spalding and his family separate themselves from friends who love them with the deepest and purest love, and who earnestly hope that in their new home they may find that same love and devotion.

Five Hundred and Twenty.—Soon after the arrival of the Western. Id Athantic passenger train yesterday a gentleman who gave his name as C. W. Forrest, and who came in on the train, sought a policenan, to whom he said that he had just been robbed of five hundred and twenty doilars, and as an evidence of the truth of his statement showed the policeman his pants pocket which had been knifed from top to bottom, laying open the pocket itself. The money consisted of two fifties, twenty twenties, and some ones and twos, and was in a small red pocket-book. When the State road train rolled into the car shed there was an immense throng about the train, and it was then the robbery was committed. Mr. Forrest's home is in Paris, Ky., and his visit to Atlanta was for the purpose of viewing the exposition. He id not miss his money until some one pointed out mutilated pocket. The case is being worked by he detectives.

A Broopy Fight.—About noon yesterday Henry Franklin and George Harris, two negro men, fell out over a game of cards and resorted to blows for a settlement. In the fight Harris proved the best man, but Franklin declined to submit to the verdict and asked his opponent to accompany him to the colored college, in the western portion of the city, where a further settlement could be had. Franklin consented, and the two belligerent mokes, accompanied by friends, repaired to the chosen battle ground. After reaching the place Harris proposed to fight with knives and Franklin agreed. They then, with drawn knives in band, approached each other and for a few minutes a warm fight ensued, but an end was made by Franklin's flight. When the casualties were sumed up it was found that Harris had three bad cuts in his breast and one down his left arm. Franklin's wounds could not be ascertained as his flight was indefinite, but it is known that he received one ugly gash across the cheek. Harris's wounds bled profusely.

KEENE—MACBETH—Franks all that passed

KEENE—MACBETH—I chaps all that passed through the mind of Macbeth, did not pass through the mind of Macbeth, did not pass through the minds of the very large and brilliant audience which occupied DeGive's opera house last night. The castle of Macbeth, "round which the air smells woolingly," the weird sisters of "the blasted heath," the "air drawn dagger," the "gracious Dunean," the "blood boltered Banquo," may not have all stood before us as Shakspeare drew them. Monday night Mr. Keene appeared as Richard, last night as Macbeth. Both tyrants, violent, ambitious cruel, treacherous. The one cruel from nature and constitution; the other becoming so from accidental circumstances. The one deformed from birth in body and mind, and naturally incapable of good. The other "full of the milk of human kindhess," is frank, sociable and generous. In the rendition of both characters Mr. Keene gave satisfaction, while at the same time in his hands neither character was exactly such as Shakspeare painted. It is true that his acting has been open to the accusation of two much vigor and physical exertion in the expression of the feelings encompassed in the characters he holds. Yet from his magnetism, or some cause, but few tragedian's draw as he does, or can hold his andience as he does. He has a magnificent voice, deep and sympathetic. He has a fine face, large, mobile and expressive. He has the nervous, fiery, impressive nature suited to the interpretation of Shakspeare.

Mr. Keene is excellently supported. Since his Shakspeare.

Mr. Keene is excellently supported. Since his last visit here he has cut away the rugged edges that made his work jar upon the critic. He is filling out seenes with artistic detail. In short, he is working toward a fame which his natural abilities entitle him to.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.

Kheunatism Neuralgia

There is nothing more painful than these diseases; but the pain can be removed and the disease cured by use of PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.

This remedy is not a cheap Beuzine or Petroleum product that must be kept away from fire or heat to avoid danger of explosion, nor is it an untried experiment that may do more harm than good.

PAIN KILLER has been in constant use for forty years, and the universal testimony from all parts of the world is, IT NEVER FAILS. It not only effects a permanent cure, but it relieves pain almost instantaneously. Being a purely vegetable remedy, it is safe in the hands of the most inexperienced.

The record of cures by the use of PAIN KILLER would fill volumes. The following extracts from letters received show what those who have tried it think:

Edgar Cady, Owatonna, Minn., says:
About a year since my wife became subject to severe suffering from rheumatism. Our resort was to the Park Killer, which speedfly relieved her.

resort was to the Pain Killer, which speedily relieved her.

arles Powell writes from the Sailors' forme, London:
I had been afflicted three years with neuralsia and violent spaems of the stomach. The doctors at Westminster Hospital save up my case in despair. I tried your Pain Killer, and it gave me immediate relief. I have regained my strength, and am now able to follow my usual occupation.

Al' druggists keep Pain Killer. Its price is so low that it is within the reach of all, it will save many times its cost in doctors'-bills, 25c., 30c., and $1.00 a bottle. Charles Powell writes from the Sailors'

Home, London:

I had been afflicted three years with neuralcia and violent spasms of the stomach. The doctors at Westminster Hospital cave up my case in despair. I tried your PAIN KILLER, and it gave me immediate relief. I have restained my strength, and am now able to follow my usual occupation.

G. H. Walworth, Saco, Me., writes: I experienced immediate relief from pain in the side by the use of your PAIN KILLER. E. York says: I have used your PAIN KILLER for rheumatism, and have received great benefit.

Seekers After Health.

Enquirer.

Unfortunates who are seeking to renew their health, are many. So often have they been deceived by the advertisements of worthless compounds, that many are discouraged, and refuse to believe anything they read in the papers. Therefore, the best advertisement of a really good medicine is the reputation it has gained in places where it is being sold. No other remedy ever discovered has grown so rapidly in public favor as that true medicinal tonic called Brown's Iron Bitters. In localities where its extraordinary merits have become fully known and realized by those who have been in ill-health, the sale is unprecedented. One druggist in our city reports the sale of 238 bottles in one week. It is, indeed, a wonderful, health-giving, life-saving preparation. It is soothing and refreshing in indeed, a wonderful, health-giving, life-saying preparation. It is soothing and refreshing in its effect, and strengthens every part of the body, and creates healthy appetite and digestion, even when the system is almost destroyed by fhe many hurtful cathartics so commonly used. Reader, beware! Duty demands that you try Brown's Iron Bitters, if your health is poor from any cause.

ewanee Coal Mines Atlanta Correspondent New York Tribune. ewauee Coal Mines Atlanta Correspondent New York Tribune.

The Tracy City (Tenn.) coals make the best coke of all the southern coals, and the property which recently changed owners at a cost of $1,000,000 is now held at twice that sum. It is one of the most valuable coal properties in the south, and it is in close proximity to the immense deposits of the brown hamatite, already described. This new company, at the head of which is Mr. John El. Imman, of New York, is developing its property rapidly and giving a fresh imperiato the iron industry of he south. One furnace, with a capacity of eighty tons per day, has been built, and three others of equal size have been ordered to be constructed. The extraordinary cheapness with which iron can be produced in Georgia, Alebama and Tennessee, justifies the prediction of J. Lowthian Bell, the English iron-master, that these three states would outmatch the world in the manufacture of cheap iron.
